

Concept Question 10-3: Why is it difficult to display 2-D spectra of images?

Because the dc value $\mathbf{X}(e^{j0}, e^{j0})$, which is the sum of all of the pixel values, is much larger than other values of the spectrum, if the image is non-negative, as many images are.