Concept Question 2-4: How can you compute the impulse response of a system from its step response?

By differentiating the step response.