Concept Question 4-7: In control applications, why do we usually use negative, not positive, feedback?

Because negative feedback stabilizes systems, while positive feedback makes the output blow up.