

Concept Question 9-16: What are the applications of each of the three forms of correlation in this section?

Autocorrelation computes the period of a noisy periodic signal. Cross-correlation computes the time delay of a noisy delayed signal. Correlation classifies a noisy signal as one of several possible known signals.